Summary:

The Project has, as a whole, been carefully planned over a period of time, and is complete to the last detail. The personnel carefully selected for their specific abilities, the mission clear in our minds. We will follow all orders transmitted to us. Should withdrawal be necessary we will retreat forward in an orderly fashion commensurate with the traditions of PRS.

Weather Observance and Reporting.

A daily weather report will be submitted from all CW stations. In addition, a theodolite and necessary equipment to make upper air observations feasible will be at the main station. The writer is well qualified to make these observations, having served as Chief observer of a U S Army station.

For purpose of security the balloon runs incident to the above paragraph will be made only when directed by PRS. Thus, if any air operations are planned by your headquarters, immediate data on the upper air can be furnished without delay.

Photography:

A well planned photographic laboratory sufficient to capably accomplish the photographic mission has been included in our supplies.

Photographs of all possible landing beaches, airfields, enemy installations, etc., will receive first priority. The Photographic station atop Mt Halcon will photograph all shipping thru the Verde Island passage. Photographs of enemy equipment (land, sea and air), movements, captured documents, maps, or anything else believed of value to the expert analysis of personnel at your HQ will be furnished at your discretion.

The station on the Magallanes Plateau will, when weather permits, photograph Corregidor daily and will further photograph all activities in Manila Bay.

Film can be developed by personnel within the party and will be sealed to prevent deterioration prior to their receipt by your HQ.

General Intelligence:

Present plans include a group of agents now in Manila and surrounding area whom I consider far superior to any we now have.

Radar Detection:

Two Radar Detector Units are included in our supplies. Trained personnel will operate these Units from stations strategically located to obtain the desired information on enemy radar.

General Preparations for "D" Day:

Accurate information will be obtained and held in readiness on water supply, possible landings, communications, strategic buildings, enemy concentrations and counter preparations, air fields, roads, transport in general to enable this Unit to neutralize the Island from the inside if we are called upon to do so.

Supersive equipment has been included in our supplies but will not be used until specifically directed by your HQ.

In accordance with my verbal outline to you, the following is a brief summary of the Mindoro Project:

1. The party will consist of one American Officer (Navy), two Filipino Officers, 1 American enlisted man, 18 Filipino enlisted men. It is my understanding that W/O Wise and the remnants of Major Philipps party have been instructed or will be instructed to meet me.

All of the above have been trained in general radio and recon work. The key members of the party have been carefully chosen for their specialized knowledge in order to fully realize the more than usual number of sub-missions within the project as a whole.

2. The project will cover the following intelligence activities as listed in their priority.

- A. Coast Watcher Stations.
- B. Weather Information
- C. General Intelligence and Photography
- D. Radar Detection
- E. General preparations for D Day.

The Coast Watcher Stations: It is, at present, my intention to land in the vicinity of the mouth of the Asis River. The party will proceed up the Asis River (according to the tactical situation) to a spot located between Mts. Fetchet and Patrick. Here the main station will be established. A reserve station and equipment will be immediately transported to the vicinity of Mt Baco and buried ~~for~~ against future possible contingencies.

A CW station will ~~then~~ be established near the summit of Mt Halcon. This Station will serve as a CW station for Verde Island Passage, Tablas St., Apo East Passage, Mindoro St., Apo West Passage, Tayabas Bay, Batangas Bay Balayan Bay and Manila Bay. This station will be equipped with a directional antenna and will operate on a low ~~per~~ power to the main station. Detection by enemy range devices will then be ~~rad~~ practically impossible.

When the situation permits a third station will be established near Ternate, Cavite on the Magallanes Plateau for a closer surveillance of Corregidor. This station will also be operated on low power with directional antenna beamed direct to Halcon who will, in turn, relay to the main station.

Sufficient equipment will be taken to establish other stations as they become necessary or as PRS directs.

6. Warrant Officer WISE and other survivors of the PHILLIPS' party will be brought into contact with Lieutenant ROWE on MINDORO as soon as the circumstances will permit.

7. This will be the first party trained and equipped to conduct communications, intelligence, weather observation and radar detection activities and it will be the first to be instructed in the part it's net is to play in the air warning system.

8. Authority is requested to permit the party to take with them the sum of fifty thousand U.S. dollars and two hundred and fifty thousand Pesos enemy military currency. There are no serviceable Philippine Pesos in proper denomination available.

Chief of Staff

21 June 1944

1. On the next trip of the NARWHAL it is contemplated to send in a direct supply shipment to the LEYTE Area Command and the BOHOL Area Command before these two areas are closed off by enemy action.

2. On the same voyage it is contemplated to send in a reinforcing party to MINDORO under the command of Lieutenant George F. ROWE, USNR. This party consisting of three officers and twenty men is more thoroughly trained and better equipped than any other party heretofore dispatched. It will establish a main position between MT. FECHET and MT. PATRICK a forward position atop MT. HALCON and a rear emergency position (with full supplies buried) in the vicinity of MT. BAGO.

3. It's mission will be to establish communications on a permanent basis from that area with this headquarters, to extend an intelligence and communications net forward into Central LUZON and MANILA, to cover the VERDE ISLAND PASSAGE and APO EAST PASS and the MANILA BAY area for information on enemy naval movement, to obtain weather information for immediate report through the weather control, to co-ordinate its elements into the air warning system just to be established and to make a ground reconnaissance for the detection of enemy radar equipment.

4. The party will be equipped with high powered photographic equipment to permit the photographing of enemy installations, ships, etc. and a developing laboratory for processing the film, the equipment to photostat borrowed enemy documents which must be returned, complete weather observation equipment including a theodolite and such other special devices as are necessary to permit upper air observations and forecasting and two complete portable radar detection units, with such radio equipment as necessary to permit the accomplishment of the mission from the standpoint of communications.

5. Men have been thoroughly trained in the operation of all technical equipment. The better to preserve the secrecy of the mission, contact with local guerilla forces on MINDORO is to be avoided. Lieutenant ROWE and his two officers have been through a two-day indoctrination course with G-2 to familiarize themselves with the basic intelligence requirements of G.H.Q. An effort will be made to secure the services of Major JURADO to act as advisor to this party in the development of Central LUZON intelligence.
