Subject is Signal Class IV Operational projects to support military operations in Korea. Refer to Section IV, paragraph 26c (1), SR 730-5-1. Message in 2 parts.

Part 1. Due to urgency of requirement for above type project, impracticable to attempt project compilation and forwarding until installation of signal communication facility covered by project concerned. Changing tactical situation with resulting changes in project requirements not conducive to development of firm equipment requirements prior to project implementation. In many cases, projects now classed as "OP" will be redesignated as "DEV" if the signal facility originally installed to support military operations is required for postwar utilization. For above and related considerations, suggest Signal Class IV "OP" projects supporting military operations in Korea be administratively compiled concurrent with installation of specific signal facility covered by such projects, and then forwarded as after-the-fact projects.

Part 2. Signal Class IV "OP" projects within the cognizance of Part 1 above will be reduced to brief radio for submission to DeptAR, including major items on Bill of Materials. Upon receipt of approval from DeptAR, necessary requisitioning from ZI sources as required will be initiated. When time permits, project letter to include complete Bill of Materials will be forwarded for record and resupply purposes

Note for Record:

1. Portion of SR (AFR) referenced in basic radio to DA stipulated items to be included in the preparation of Signal Class IV projects designed to support military operations (OP Projects).

2. Since changing tactical conditions necessitates material changes in the Signal Class IV project designed to support such tactical operations, it is impracticable to attempt to foresee requirements and translate them to a firm project. Also, eventually many of the present Signal Class IV operational projects will be redesignated as developmental projects in those cases where the original Signal facility (switchboards, toll circuits, etc.) is required for postwar Signal communications requirements.

3. In basic radio, we suggest that "OP" Signal Class IV projects supporting military operations in Korea be compiled concurrent with installation of the Signal plant covered by each specific project.

4. We further advise DA that info will be forwarded as expeditiously as possible on project requirements supporting military operations in Korea, and that requisitioning for equipment required from ZI will be submitted through normal supply channels upon approval by DA.

5. Routed through G-4 for concurrence prior to dispatch. Information copy is furnished.

6. Coordinated with and concurred in by Signal Supply Div. Information copy furnished.
