1 This project was initiated in an attempt to establish that the individuals listed on Open Roll #1004, Philippine Motor Transport Depot, QMC., from 8 December 1941 to 31 December 1941 accounts of J. R. Vance, Lt. Col. (Inf) F. D. were paid the amounts indicated.

2 The aforementioned Open Roll #1004 contains 1,078 names with occupation as driver, rate of pay $600.00 per annum, total days employed and gross amount earned.

3 The names of seventy-seven individuals appearing on Open Roll #1004 were selected and a search for records revealed sixty-three claim folders which could be identified as pertaining to these individuals.

CLAIM FOLDERS

4 Examination of the sixty-three ~~201~~ files revealed the following information:

a. Nine individuals were determined under the Missing Persons Act, as War Department civilian employees due pay for periods from 16 December 1941 to 28 February 1945. (all this spec pd?)

b. One individual was determined under the Missing Persons Act, as a War Department Civilian employee not entitled to A/P.

c. Fifty-three individuals were determined under the Missing Persons Act, not to have been civilian employees of the War Department, within the terms of Public Law 490, as amended for the following reasons:

"Subject was hired after 8 December 1941, worked less than thirty days and employment terminated when position for which hired ceased to exist. Employment was created by emergency and was not of a continuing nature."

Subject was not interned by the enemy and did not suffer serious deprivation by reason of former official status."

d. Thirty-nine individuals allege they were hired on 15 December or prior thereto. A search of the civilian Project "J" pay roll index card file revealed twenty-one of these thirty-nine individuals listed on other numbered open rolls (Pay Rolls) for the period 9-15 December 1941 and one individual for the period 13-31 December 1941.

e. Twenty-four individuals allege they were hired on 16 December 1941 or subsequent thereto. A search of the civilian Project "J" pay roll index card file fails to reveal any listing for these twenty-four individuals other than Open Roll #1004.

AGAR-R

SUBJECT: Project -027 - Open Roll #1004

- f. Forty-one individuals alleged salary of $600.00 per annum.
- g. Forty-seven individuals alleged they were last paid on 31 December 1941 or shortly prior to 31 December 1941.
- h. Seven individuals alleged they were last paid on 31 December 1941 and their employment continued.
- i. Seven individuals alleged they were last paid in February and March 1942.
- j. Four individuals alleged they were not paid.
- k. Thirty-seven individuals allege they were paid by Mr./or Attorney Luna.
- l. Nine individuals allege they were paid by five different finance officers.
- m. Thirteen individuals alleged they were paid by an unknown person.

DISCUSSION:

It is noted that open roll #1004 is not a regular pay voucher but a typewritten list, not authenticated by a disbursing officer (signature) or signed by payee.

Information shown on O/R #1004 appears to be compatible with the sixth-three claim folders located in regards to name, occupation, rate of pay per annum and fifty-nine individuals allege being paid 31 December 1941, or subsequent thereto.

The twenty-one names listed upon other payrolls for the period 9-15 December 1941, plus the twenty-four individuals who allege employment from 16 December 1941 indicates that the majority of total days employed as shown for the individuals on Open Roll #1004 are for the period 16-31 December 1941.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the foregoing it is recommended that Open Roll #1004 be accepted as ^{an authentic} ~~proof that the individuals listed thereon were~~ temporary employees of the War Department ~~and were paid for days and amounts as indicated.~~

Statement of
Colonel Michael A. Quinn, QMC, Morning of September 23, 1945, Regarding the Case of Auto Trucking Co.-B. J. Epes.

Reference to the affidavit of Mr. B. J. Epes, it was not the policy of my office to rent vehicle on a time-per-day basis but the vehicles were rented on a flat per-diem basis, varying on the size of the machines. It may therefore be possible that Mr. Epes had converted the tonnage factor on the basis of P10.00 per diem per day.

Reference paragraph 5. The word "requisitioning" used in this paragraph is, in my opinion, erroneously used. The vehicles were contracted on a rental basis but not requisitioned as far as I can remember.

Mr. Luna, Chief Clerk of Philippine Motor Transport Depot, was left in charge of the office to close up the odds and ends, including the pay of civilian employees, drivers, etc. and it may be possible that the bill was submitted to him of which I have no direct knowledge.

Reference to the P462.00, I cannot recall this particular item but I do not believe that it is a claim against the United States Government because ordinarily we do not contract the services of the chauffeurs in addition to the rental of motor vehicles. When a vehicle is hired, it is understood that the cost of hiring includes the salary of the drivers.

Reference paragraph 2. The date "7 December 1941", appearing on line 7 of this paragraph, is undoubtedly incorrect; it should be "8 December 1941". The statement "Lt. Colonel M. Quinn, Quartermaster, Philippine Department, and T. O. Myers of the Luzon Brokerage Co. came to the offices of Bartolome Transportation Co. at 33 Plaza Dilao and made arrangements with the aforesaid Santiago Bartolome that the United States forces would take over the trucks of the Bartolome Transportation Co. as the need for them arose" is not understood. As far as I know I have never heard of Bartolome Transportation Co. until today and I am certain that I did not go with Mr. Myers to any place for the purpose of augmenting Mr. Myers' transportation.

Relative to Mr. William Zeitlin. If he commandeered any motor vehicle, I have no knowledge of it and he did not have any authority to do so, as far as I recall.

(Statement made by Colonel Michael A. Quinn, CMC, on the afternoon of 21 September 1945, in the Office of the Chief of Claims, 5th Floor Ayala Building, Manila)

I am giving this from memory after three and a half years, and I am certain that I can remember the high points of the transaction that came to the Department Motor Transportation Office in December 1941; the details have slipped my memory.

Col. Schmidt: What is your name please, Colonel.

MICHAEL A. QUINN, Colonel, Quartermaster Corps, Department Motor Transportation Officer from May 20, 1940 to about March 20, 1942, thereafter until the surrender of Bataan on April 9, 1942, I was Chief of the Motor Transport Service of Luzon Force. Lieutenant Colonel up to March 30, 1942; Colonel as of March 31, 1942.

Col. Schmidt: What authority was given to you prior to December 7, 1941 to procure equipment and supplies for the Army?

Col. Quinn: That was covered in WFO 3, however, WFO 3 as far as I can remember was inoperative after the organization of USAFFE.

Col. Schmidt: And when was that?

Col. Quinn: About August 1941. I think on December 23, 1941, it was announced that WFO 3 was in operation.

On the morning of December 8, 1941, I contacted all the automobile and motor parts dealers in Manila and asked them to freeze all motor vehicles, motor vehicles parts and accessories and not to sell or issue them without my orders. I also told them that I would like to meet them at my quarters, ~~at 1:00 p.m.~~ about noon or 1:00 p.m. that date. The dealers responded to my request and in the conference they promised to cooperate with me 100%. In order to carry out this part of the bargain, I had placed in all automobile establishments, motor repair shops, stores of automotive parts, soldiers and civilian employees of the Philippine Motor Transport Depot and it was therefore impossible for any private individual to buy a single automobile, spare part or accessory, without the specific approval of the Office of the Department Motor Transportation Officer. However, the Navy, Marine Corps, Red Cross, Y.M.C.A. and other semi-government entities such as the Metropolitan Water District and Public Utility Companies were given high priority and members of the medical profession were given next priority.

Col. Schmidt: Who authorized you to do that?

Col. Quin: Nobody.

In order to prevent promiscuous misuse to motor vehicles and fuel, we issued placards to be stuck on the windshields of automobiles authorizing possessors to procure gasoline and other necessary supplies and also gave these vehicles authority to go across Military Police lines and other military establishments. We did not commandeer, under my orders, any vehicle that I can remember. We bought every new vehicle in Manila and issued purchase orders to cover. In the case of United Motors, Mr. Schwartz personally told me he got his money to the United States and Mr. Thompson of the Manila Trading & Supply Co. got all the money for his vehicles and I paid for the spare parts that we had procured at that time. I believe I remember that Mr. Thompson transferred all funds of the company to the United States by cable, and if the records of the cable office are still intact, I suggest that a check of this transaction be made.

Col. Schmidt: Were all these cars taken to Bataan or some other parts of Luzon?

Col. Quinn: Their use was turned over to USAFFE G-4 or the Department Quartermaster.

Col. Schmidt: How many vehicles would you estimate were taken?

DECLASSIFIED
Authority 883078

Col. Quin: About 2,500 to 3,000.

Col. Schmidt: Were your activities confined to motor vehicles entirely?

Col. Quinn: Yes.

When I went to Bataan on December 24, Lt. Col. John B. Brettell, QMC, my executive officer, then Major, was left in Manila. Col. Frank Brezina, Department Quartermaster, now dead, issued instructions to Col. Brettell to commandeer certain types of vehicles, that is, rather heavy duty types. How many were commandeered, I do not know. My recollection is about fifty. This authority was granted on December 24 and ran thru December 30, 1941, when I returned to Bataan with Col. Brettell leaving the office in charge of my Chief Clerk, Mr. Luna.

I also remember that about December 20, there were two ships outside the harbor and they happened to be loaded with motor vehicles intended for the British Army in Singapore or India, and USAFTE headquarters made arrangements to take those vehicles and use them for their service. These were principally Canadian ^{made} Chevrolets. Receipts were given to the English representative. There were some spare parts and about 30 Bren Gun Carriers.

Col. Schmidt: Out in the provinces sometimes vehicles were taken without issuing any receipt.

Col. Quinn: I do not know if receipts were ever issued or not ~~but~~ ^{made} I personally could not swear to it. Now I will tell you an instance.

I was ordered to send out a convoy of 83 vehicles loaded with medical supplies, and I was given one corporal to go with the convoy. The convoy, intact, was taken by some officers and as far as I know I never heard of it. Unfortunately the Corporal is now dead.

I think I bought two cars, they were used cars, but I gave receipts. Some cars I bought that were used were autocalesas.

Q. What did you intend to do with the stock in the various repair shops ?

Col. Quinn: We intended to move them to Bataan.

Lt. Powell: The Luzon Brokerage claimed that the Army started leasing some 100 trucks about December 1st, 1941, and that later on when the war broke out their garage was made an Army motor pool.

Col. Quinn: As far as I can remember it is very likely true that we have taken these trucks including their drivers and used them for transporting supplies to Bataan; I would roughly estimate between 130 to 150 trucks.

Lt. Klyde: Was the Luzon Brokerage authorized by you to commandeer vehicles . There are instances where they have issued receipts for vehicles taken from private individuals purportedly under your authority.

Col. Quinn: The Luzon Brokerage was not authorized to commandeer vehicles but it is very likely that due to continuous operation of their vehicles some of them may have gone to the dead line for repairs and it is possible that they had solicited other trucking companies and hired their vehicles to augment their depleted fleet in order to carry out the mission for which their pool has been established. The only ~~time~~ ^{time} ~~authorized~~ ^{authorized} ~~say~~ commandeering was thru Col. Brettell between December 24th and 30th, 1941, limited to certain heavy duty type vehicles.

Lt. Klyde: The Manila Yellow Taxicab Co. and the Masay Bus Transportation Co. have made specific reference to a meeting called by you several days or several weeks before Pearl Harbor with respect to a uniform plan for the hiring of trucks from various taxi and bus companies, in the event war broke out.

Col. Quinn: Three meetings were called between January after the 1941 maneuver and the 15th of November due to the fact that we were very low on priority. I tried to organize the civilian motor transportation pool for passenger and cargo for use by the military service. The civilian concerns responded and after the plan had been worked out and submitted to higher authorities, it was not approved.

BATANGAS TRANSPORTATION CO.

Col. Quinn: I had hoped that Max Blouse, the President of the company, would come to duty with me as a Lt. Col. and take charge of all transportation south of Manila. He came to Bataan and worked for me for a dollar a year. My force consisted of about 3,000 Filipino civilians. Blouse put into operation the plan we had discussed with the Department Quartermaster. If not for his cooperation and untiring efforts the Southern Forces would not have been able to reach Bataan. Furthermore he blew up all his installations in Batangas and San Pablo as the Japanese were approaching the two places.

SILANG TRAFFIC

Capt. Yost: Regarding Silang Traffic (16 buses) what do you think of it Colonel.

Col. Quinn: I have no idea.

My idea was that if we have to evacuate we would destroy everything to avoid them from falling into enemy's control. However, when we evacuated Bataan, General ^{Roy} Jones ordered me not to destroy any vehicle as it was his belief that they would be used in transporting prisoners to the concentration camp. Military types of vehicles were destroyed but the civilian busses numbering about 1,500 were left intact and to my knowledge the Japanese used them later.

PAMPANGA BUS TRANSPORTATION CO.

Mr. Cottrell had the same job in our set up for the Northern Forces as Mr. Blouse had in the south. When the war broke out, Mr. Cottrell immediately stopped the operation of his busses for civilian use and on his initiative his entire set up was placed at the disposal of the military authorities and this included fuel, repair shops, busses, trucks and supplies.

GOLDEN TAXICAB

Lt. Fitzgerald: Colonel, how about the Golden Taxicab Company.

Col. Quinn: The Golden Taxicabs were hired for operation in and around Manila only.

STATEMENT OF CAPTAIN ROSCOE PRICE, INFANTRY, O-256298

I was ordered to Fort Stotsenburg on February 23, 1941, and placed in command of by orders of Headquarters, Philippine Department, U.S. Army. In addition to my other duties, I was appointed Post Transportation Officer of Fort Stotsenburg. Only government owned vehicles were in the pool at this time. Lt. Marion L. Damon and Lt. Elmer J. Hogue were detailed with me. Up until 9 December 1941 we carried on normal routine motor transport operation.

On December 18, I was ordered to join General Wainwright's headquarters at Bamban, and assigned as assistant Quartermaster in charged of transportation under Colonel Alford S. Balsom, Quartermaster, North Luzon Forces. When I reported for duty, Colonel Balsom through Colonel Quinn had already taken possession for the Army of all vehicles of the public transportation system in northern Luzon: Pambusco, Pantranco and Rural Transit Co. In addition to the rolling stock, they had taken over the shop, parts and other equipment including gasoline, tires and other supplies. I never heard or saw any inventory of the parts, gasoline or the number of vehicles that the Army took over.

On December 22, I was ordered to Cagayan Valley and on the way up I was ordered to inspect the various motor shops and motor pools, and to see to it that the vehicles and gasoline supply were being used not for civilian but for Army purposes. The first place I stopped was at Cabanatuan. I found the shops owned by the Rural Transit Co. were being used for the maintenance of vehicles taken over from the Rural Transit Co. and others and of Army owned vehicles. I was advised that all of the Rural Transit Co.'s rolling stock were taken over, but I do not know how many vehicles were included. Colonel Balsom told me this. There was a great deal of traffic centered around this spot and these shops were taking care of the maintenance for this whole center. Practically all of the mechanic working on the maintenance were civilian employees of the Rural Transit Co. There may have been one or two of the Philippine Army mechanic, but the responsibility rested with the employees of the Rural Transit Co. These were practically front line combat conditions and it was physically impossible for this motor pool to maintain paper record of parts used in the maintenance of this equipment or of gasoline, oil or supplies delivered to the vehicles on their needs. As one illustration, I telephoned at another time to Major Derrick, who was operating this pool and ordered him to send me immediately a truck loaded with all types of parts and equipment and two of his civilian mechanics as the Army needed them at Alcala, the General Headquarters. Major Derrick sent this truck immediately and on its arrival there was no opportunity to taken an inventory or maintain any paper record due to combat condition. It would be impossible to make an estimate of the parts or equipment shipped out on this truck.

The next places I stopped were San Jose, Sta. Fe, and Bayombong. I stopped at Santiago at the Rural Transit Co.'s emergency shop and took an inner tube for my vehicle. The Army was operating this shop. The next stop was Ilagan. At the next stop was the farthest north I went, I think it is called the town of Cauayan. They had established on the south of the road a gasoline station and they had one truck there with spare parts operated by the personnel and equipment taken from the Rural Transit Co. This was also right next to the truck lines under battle conditions.

Then I returned to headquarters. There was no civilian operation of motor equipment of any type that I saw during this inspection trip as the Army had to commandeer motor equipment and supplies. On my return I brought out from this area twenty vehicles of miscellaneous type all busses, part being from Rural Transit Co. and part from Pambusco, and maybe some other companies. These already have been taken over and used for some days by the Army prior to my arrival, but I felt the headquarters needed them and took them back. I evacuated civilians out of the battle area with this equipment during my return trip. Army personnel were driving these vehicles for me on my return. I do not know where the civilian drivers were at the time these Army drivers drove these vehicles out. I made a report to General Wainwright through Colonel Balsom in writing about 26 December 1941 of what I found on this trip.

The Army did not have Army drivers available and we took over from these Transit companies civilian drivers and the Army used them straight on through this entire campaign. Some of them were enlisted into the Army, but many of the others were never enlisted. The Army would feed these drivers and would give them medical care and attention and try to put them up at night, or they would have to sleep in their buses. Tents were never available. I do not know whether or not the Army paid these civilians. I do know that Major Derrick while operating the motor pool for the Army paid the Rural Transit civilian drivers and mechanics and employees from the Rural Transit Co.'s fund up to 31st December 1941. I do not know the details of how the civilian drivers from the other companies were paid.

All of the big Transit Companies equipment were taken by the Army, but during the latter part of the campaign, Army personnel would locate individual civilian vehicles that had been abandoned up near the front line and the Army would take this over and placed them in the motor pool. I do not know in what manner these vehicles have been run close to the front line and abandoned, whether by civilians or Army personnel. There is no way to say how many individual vehicles were taken by the Army this way, but we were taking for Army use all vehicles that we could locate.

The general repair shop of the Pambusco in San Fernando, Pampanga was taken over and used exclusively for repairs, etc. of Army vehicles and civilian vehicles taken by the Army including tires, spare parts, gasoline and the entire stock there, and the civilian employees and mechanics went right ahead with their duties, but the services were all performed for the Army.

There were a large number of cars and trucks taken over at Fort Stotsenburg by Capt. Chester A Johnston, F. A. 24th F.A., and receipts given by him.
