 HEADQUARTERS, 130th INFANTRY
 ONE HUNDRED TENTH DIVISION

CPC LIEUGANON
 17 June '43

GENERAL ORDERS,)

No. 15)

1. In order that a closer coordination of the various outpost of the 3rd Battalion, 130th Infantry could be effected, intelligence work regarding enemy made easier, transportation of subsistence of the troops eased, and transmission of messages from and to the Regimental Headquarters facilitated, the Headquarters of the 3rd Battalion, 115th Infantry will be moved to a location along the Agusan River at Haguitan, Davao.

2. The new Battalion Headquarters must be occupied not later than July 25, 1943. All personnel now at the present Battalion Headquarters, except a reasonable number of enlisted men under one officer of the Battalion Headquarters Company should gradually float to the new Headquarters. The personnel to be left at Patrocinio should maintain liaison with the 113th Infantry.

3. In selecting the location for the New Battalion Headquarters, the Battalion Commander should take into consideration concealment, good drainage, proximity to a good water supply and strategic location from all avenues of approach from the enemy.

3. The Commanding Officer of the 10th Military District, United States Forces in the Philippines, Colonel Wendell W. Fertig has shown exceptional interest and attention to this sector by augmenting the number of arms and ammunitions in the 130th Infantry. Colonel Fertig issued more medicines to this regiment than any other outfit in the 110th Division in order that the civilian population would be attended to more than what the Japanese could possibly render to our civilians.

As a befitting gratitude to these unusual unforgettable services, the area now occupied by the rear headquarters of the 130th Infantry at Florida, Davao, and those of the adjacent sites occupied by the Extension hospital of this regiment, and including the area covered by the Army project thereat, will, effective this date, be designated CAMP WENDELL W. FERTIG.
