11. A boy woke up one morning, turned over, rubbed his eyes, and looked around him. His bed wasn't nice and soft, and he didn't have pretty warm covers over him. He was lying on the hard ground, and what do you think he had for a blanket? A tiger's skin. This was thousands of years ago.

What kind of bed did the boy have?-- nice; white; soft; hard
What did he have for a cover?-- blanket; quilt; skin; sheet
How many years ago did the boy live?-- ten; thousands; hundred; five

12. Did you know that the stars are shining all the time? We see them only at night. During the day the sun is so bright that the stars cannot be seen. Often at night the moon is so bright that there seem to be few stars. A very dark night is the best time to see the greatest number of stars. Watch for a dark night, and see if this is true.

What keeps the stars from shining because of its brightness?-- lights; clouds; sun; fires

13. People used to think that night air was bad for them. They thought it was full of sickness and they kept their windows shut at night. We know that night air is good and that we should keep our windows open. We should keep our windows open even during rainy days. If our bodies are warmly covered, no cold air we breath can hurt us.

People thought that night air was full of-- health; sickness; stars; dust
At night we should keep our windows-- closed; shut; broken; open
Even on rainy nights we should keep open our-- cars; mouths; windows.

14. Ages and ages ago men began to live on this earth. They were savages who lived in a warm climate where they needed no clothing. They got their food as the animals did from the trees and bushes around them. Not until they learned to use fire could they cook meat or move to a cool climate.

What did the first people not need?-- food; water; sleep; clothing
Where did the first people get their food?-- pots; trees; stores; stov
What did they need to learn how to use before they could cook?-- electricity; clothes; fire; dishes

15. A little boy who lived long ago saw a strange creature in a cave. It was something like a lizard but longer than the tallest man the boy had ever seen. It had a row of yellow spines which stood up all the way down his back bone to the tip of his tail. But the strangest thing about this animal was that he had three eyes instead of two.

What did the strange creature look like?-- snake; lizard; tiger; man

11. A boy woke up one morning, turned over, rubbed his eyes, and looked around him. His bed wasn't nice and soft, and he didn't have pretty warm covers over him. He was lying on the hard ground, and what do you think he had for a blanket? A tiger's skin. This was thousands of years ago.

 What kind of bed did the boy have?-- nice; white; soft; hard
 What did he have for a cover?-- blanket; quilt; skin; sheet
 How many years ago did the boy live?-- ten; thousands; hundred; five

12. Did you know that the stars are shining all the time? We see them only at night. During the day the sun is so bright that the stars cannot be seen. Often at night the moon is so bright that there seem to be few stars. A very dark night is the best time to see the greatest number of stars. Watch for a dark night, and see if this is true.

 What keeps the stars from shining because of its brightness?--
 lights; clouds; sun; fires

13. People used to think that night air was bad for them. They thought it was full of sickness and they kept their windows shut at night. We know that night air is good and that we should keep our windows open. We should keep our windows open even during rainy days. If our bodies are warmly covered, no cold air we breath can hurt us.

 People thought that night air was full of-- health; sickness; stars; dust
 At night we should keep our windows-- closed; shut; broken; open
 Even on rainy nights we should keep open our-- cars; mouths; windows.

14. Ages and ages ago men began to live on this earth. They were savages who lived in a warm climate where they needed no clothing. They got their food as the animals did from the trees and bushes around them. Not until they learned to use fire could they cook meat or move to a cool climate.

 What did the first people not need?-- food; water; sleep; clothing
 Where did the first people get their food?-- pots; trees; stores; stov
 What did they need to learn how to use before they could cook?--
 electricity; clothes; fire; dishes

15. A little boy who lived long ago saw a strange creature in a cave. It was something like a lizard but longer than the tallest man the boy had ever seen. It had a row of yellow spines which stood up all the way down his back bone to the tip of his tail. But the strangest thing about this animal was that he had three eyes instead of two.
